The predetermination of the eventual outcome of orthodontic treatment should be a part of each orthodontist's armamentarium. The Visual Treatment Objective permits the development of alternative treatment plans. After setting up the teeth ideally within the anticipated or grown facial pattern, the orthodontist must decide how far he must go with mechanics and orthopedics to achieve his goals, whether it is possible to achieve them and what the alternatives are. Once About the Author Dr Gaurav Gupta BDS MDS ORTHO FWFO USA He has keen interest in research he has to his credit many publications on various topics like the effect of surface modification of orthodontic wires and low friction ligatures for overcoming friction.
